CHOCOLATE IS GOOD FOR YOUR HEART

A study made in Germany found that chocolate is good for your heart. This is fantastic news for chocolate lovers. The investigation group followed the chocolate-eating habits and health of 20,000 people. They compared how much chocolate they ate to the number of heart attacks that people had. The investigation manager Brian Buijsse said: "The good news is that chocolate is not as bad as people think and can even reduce the heart problems." Mr Buijsse said that his group found that dark chocolate was the most beneficial kind to eat: "Dark chocolate exhibits the best effects, milk chocolate is not so good, and white chocolate has no effects at all," he said.

The German study shows that people who eat chocolate (at least one bar per week) reduce their risk of having a heart attack by 27 per cent. Nutrition experts believe that natural compounds in chocolate called flavonols are good for our heart. They are found in cocoa beans and dark chocolate (which has more cocoa) contains more of them than milk chocolate (which has more fat). Buijsse tells people not to eat lots of chocolate: "If you eat a lot of chocolate, you will probably get fat. The best thing is to have small amounts which replace other high- calorie sweets or snacks"
